ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 30.—Major William Robertson, sponsor of the epochal endurance flight of the St. Louis Robin, announced today that he was sending aloft a message ordering Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien to land their craft today. At 10:17 a. m. (EST) they had been aloft 410 hours.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 30.—Still aloft on a flight that dwarfs anything in the history of aviation, Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien piloted their "St. Louis-Robin" at 6:17 a. m. (EST) today to the amazing figure of 406 consecutive hours.

Apparently "good" for many hours, they nevertheless were advised by sponsors of their flight that they were at liberty to land even before their motor failed them. Earlier they advised field attendants "for all we know we will be up here a week from now."

Another remarkably clear flying day and night found the Robin soaring far above the field today, emitting a rhythmic "put-put" that seemed to say "tut-tut, all is well."

But obviously sobered by the tragic ending of the attempt of Capt. P. L. Crichton and Owen Haughland to establish a record in the "Minnesota," back-riders of the flight of the Robin went into conference and sent a significant word aloft to Jackson and O'Brien.

A lengthy letter, signed by Major William B. Robertson, president of the Curtiss-Robertson Aircraft Manufacturing Company, builders of the Robin, exhaustively reviewed the technical progress of the flight and said:

"I do not want you to become too fatigued, but if you are enjoying yourselves, getting plenty of sleep, and keeping in good physical condition, and if in your opinion the airplane and motor are in excellent condition, you may keep on as long as you see fit."

What the flyers' reaction to that indirect injunction to use more than normal caution had not been determined early today. Their reply had not been received. It reflects, however, numerous requests from scattered members of the public to "call them down after 400 hours."

Robertson specifically cautioned Jackson and O'Brien about the condition of their motor—which yesterday they reported was weakening. He also warned them against the possibility their plane structure might be weakened, and that their landing tires might be deflated.

"Of course," he said. "We do not want anything to happen that will mar your record. Still at the same time we do not want to dictate to you about the machine, as you no doubt know more about it than we do. You are doing such a darn good job, the motor and plane are functioning all right, it does seem a shame for us to even approach the subject of coming down, but as I stated before we can't tell what condition this motor is in down here on the ground and we are leaving it up to you entirely."

"We believe that the motor has proved conclusively everything that we wanted to know and we would not want any trouble to mar your record. This is all true, but if we did call you down after 400 hours, and there was still some more time in the motor no doubt within the next three days or three weeks some one would start up again and stay until they wore out the motor and your record would not stand."

Jackson and O'Brien, therefore, were confronted today with the major decision whether to keep going on or to land with a magnificent gesture of unbreakability. There was considerable speculation on what their answer would be, and about the only "straw" in the wind was their last note, yesterday, signed by O'Brien, saying:

"I see a nice crowd waiting down below for us to land. Well, we are sure sorry, but as far as we know we will be up here this time next week, so tell them to go home and we will notify them when we get ready to land."

O'Brien's note took a good-natured dig at Jackson's "wood-sawing" propensities while asleep, and explained that "he just had a nightmare and when he awoke he was singing 'I Wonder What's Been Done With Sally, That Old Gal of Mine.'" (Mrs. Jackson's name is Sally.)

Jackson's co-pilot also revealed that while flying high over St. Louis the two airmen engaged in a game of "craps," saying "I broke him I got both nickels. We have been flying at 6,500 feet. We sure find it nice up here. It's so smooth."

At 3:01 p. m. EST today if still aloft, the Robin will have exceeded the former record of 246:43:32 hours set by the Angeleno at Culver City, Calif., by one full week, or 165 hours—a margin larger than the full of any of three competitors who started out to break the record after the Robin went up July 13.

BOMB THEATER OWNER'S HOME IN AKRON; OCCUPANTS UNHURT

AKRON, O., July 30.—The premature explosion of a bomb hurled at the home of Frank A. Menches, co-owner of the Liberty Theater, yesterday, prevented serious damage to the house and possible injury to its five occupants.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., July 30.—An embalmed chicken will be one of the exhibits in evidence presented to the September grand jury here.

When William Baker, of Shadyville, was arrested for chicken stealing, a dressed chicken was discovered hidden in the cistern.

Prosecutor McElveen ordered the fowl taken to a funeral parlor and embalmed so it could be used against Baker next fall.

The chicken is reposing in a Bellaire funeral home.

NEW LEXINGTON, O., July 30.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow at Wolf Run Church, McConnellsburg, for Professor C. L. Williams, 73, widely known educator, who died from heart trouble yesterday at his home in Thornville.

Prof. Williams had been ill for some time and failed rapidly following the death of his wife last September.

For ten years, Prof. Williams was superintendent of schools at Thornville; twelve years at Shawnee, ten at New Straitsville, four at Orient and six at McArthur.

SUGAR PROPAGANDA MARKS BATTLE OVER TARIFF SCHEDULES

Lobbying Inquiry May Result From Situation

WASHINGTON, July 30.—"The billion dollar tariff schedule" is what they call the sugar provision of the pending bill on Capitol Hill, a name which grew out of the vast interests spread halfway around the globe which are conducting here the greatest tariff propaganda campaign since the old schedule fight of Payne-Aldrich tariff days.

Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee attested today that seldom in his twenty-six years of tariff experience has he seen such a flood of organized propaganda. His observations are confirmed by other members of the committee whose desks and wastebaskets, like those of news bureaus here, are piled high with telegrams and statements from the parties involved in the three-cornered game.

The situation has become so obvious that Senator Caraway, Democrat, Ark., told the United Press he would introduce, when the senate convenes three weeks hence, a resolution calling for a senatorial inquiry into all lobbying. He wants to use the material turned up by such an investigation to press for action on his bill to require lobbyists to register their names and organizations with the clerk of the house.

Investigation shows no charges have been made nor any suspicions voiced indicating improper use of the money privately spent on propaganda. According to those in closest touch with the situation, expenditures are made chiefly to maintain Washington headquarters to petition congress, a right guaranteed to all citizens by the constitution.

A check of senators' offices shows most of the mail about tariff comes from those who want duties lower than the three cent rate provided in the house bill. The bulk of petitions comes from American business men who will sell products in Cuba and who claim a high sugar rate against Cuba will ruin their export market there, and from large American consumers of sugar.

The dog racing track, which was opened for a twenty-day meet with the "contribution and refund" system of wagering in operation last Thursday night, was dark Monday night, just five days after the $75,000 plant was opened.

Following the filing of the three additional affidavits Monday, track officials made an announcement to the effect that racing at the Fairlawn oval would be suspended until the legality of the betting system is tested in the courts.

The track operated three straight nights with full programs of races, hence the village has presumably realized $600.

Following are the additional fifteen prospective petit jurors: Port Ward, Xenia Twp.; Edith Willenburg, Spring Valley Twp.; E. N. Shigley, Ross Twp.; E. K. Fog, Miami Twp.; Frank C. Kendall, Bath Twp.; Grace Bishop, Bath Twp.; F. A. Charles, Jefferson Twp.; Frank Stewart, Jefferson Twp.; W. C. Allen, Xenia fourth ward; George D. Beal, Silver Creek Twp.; Charles McPherson, Xenia first ward; William J. Jennings, Bath Twp.; Charles Mowrer, Xenia second ward; Charles Breiel, Xenia Twp., and Harry Shank, Beaver Creek Twp.

Meanwhile Republican members of the committee continue to work in their warm committee room, making little progress toward concluding the bill. They have not yet finished work on the third of fifteen schedules of the measure and believe now they may not have it ready for state consideration until after September 1, although the senate will reconvene August 19 for that purpose.

Their representatives are only a small part of the big publicity army here which occupies five columns of the local telephone directory and represents nearly every kind of human activity.

The attacks of the American beet sugar growers have been leveled off late against the Smoot sliding scale which the author contends will afford slightly lower rates than those provided in the house bill.

Smoot, who comes from Utah, a beet sugar state, said he will make public his sliding scale within the next few days and will devote a day to hearings upon it August 7.

Notices being broadcast far and wide by the track owners state that the "public's entertainment is primary in amusement parks of this type," whereas the added attractions are planned.

The committee was assured by Wald that as soon as funds are available, probably next year, he will order a new survey of the route. He said, also, according to the committee, that two heavy-traffic sections will be planned as the first links in the super-highway, one between Cincinnati and Dayton and the other between Toledo and Defiance.

The village of Fairfield profited by $600 while the racing was in progress. Under terms of specific ordinances passed by the village council, one licensing the track and the other designed to legalize the form of betting used, the village receives a daily fee of $200 from the track, regardless of whether betting is allowed.

The track operated three straight nights with full programs of races, hence the village has presumably realized $600.

When the track opened last Thursday night, deputy sheriffs arrested twenty-four booth operators and seized $200. The men pleaded not guilty to charges of selling pools on the speed of beasts, namely dogs.

The attacks of the American beet sugar growers have been leveled off late against the Smoot sliding scale which the author contends will afford slightly lower rates than those provided in the house bill.

New York wasn't shocked. It's been a red necktie would have attracted more attention on Fifth Ave. than I did if I had been alone," he said.

But Saunders was the center of an ogling throng all the way from his hotel to Times Square, half a dozen blocks away. There he ducked into a theater to shake the crowds, stayed an hour and then took an elevated train downtown.

The Carolinian has no illusions that his idea of summer dress will have a sudden vogue. He thinks the only thing to do now is to let the notion "percolate a while."

"There will be no rapid change in men's styles," he said. "Men are terribly conservative. But gradually they will come around to my views."

The "pajama man"—he is really publisher of a newspaper in Elizabeth City—is confident that many men will gradually adopt the comfortable garb, loafing around home in pajamas as he did at first, venturing forth to the corner drug store, and finally wearing them on the street even during the day.

REPORT 40,000,000 NEAR STARVATION IN CHINA FAMINE AREA

SPECIAL VENIRE IS DRAWN TO CONSIDER DOG BETTING CASES

Separate Trials Are Planned; Fay Pleads
Not Guilty

Charles R. Fay, Middletown, president of the Fairfield Amusement Park, Ltd., pleaded not guilty to an affidavit charging him with keeping a room for the selling of pools on dog races and knowingly permitting the selling of pools when arraigned in Common Pleas Court Monday.

Fay furnished $300 bond and was released, pending a jury trial assigned for Tuesday morning, August 6.

In view of the approaching hearing, Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy ordered fifteen additional jurors drawn from the jury wheel Tuesday to augment the May petit.

The famine was reported to be more far-reaching and more devastating than any which China has experienced in the last century.

North and western China were particularly affected and the situation in Shensi and Kansu provinces especially was complicated by the severance of railway communications due to civil wars, delaying famine relief trains for several weeks.

The famine was reported to be more far-reaching and more devastating than any which China has experienced in the last century.

Sharon Lynn was up in the air when Clem Clarke, millionaire visitor to Hollywood, asked her to marry him. For he popped the question 5,000 feet over Hollywood, in his plane. But she said "yes," so apparently everything is going to be all right.

The drought this spring in north China has been more extensive than last year, covering most of the area and damaging the crops in provinces which a year ago were fairly prosperous.

Reports said that several foreign and Chinese, literally lost their minds from the dreadful sights they have been forced to witness. The mission compounds in many places have been surrounded by hundreds of dying persons who have cried feebly for assistance which the mission workers were unable to provide.

The bandits, reported to be on the increase, are partly professional robbers, but a large number of them are desperate persons, ordinary law-abiding farmers who have joined these bands in a final effort to obtain enough to eat.

The affidavit was filed by Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall, who also filed similar affidavits against two other principal stockholders in the partnership organization—G. W. Heintz, Hamilton, former manager of the track, and C. G. Wantz, Fairfield.

Fay was the only one of the three men charged Monday who was served with a warrant. The other two will be arraigned and on the assumption they will also enter not guilty pleas. Prosecutor Marshall announced that it is his intention to try their cases separately for reasons of his own.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE MODEL PRAYER — After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven. Hallowed be thy name. Thy Kingdom come. They will be done in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.—Matthew 6:9, 10, 11, 12, 13.

GERMANY ON THE HIGH SEAS

The great new ocean liner Bremen did more than provide newspaper readers with some interesting stories when it broke all speed records for the Atlantic crossing the other day; it served notice on the shipping world that the German mercantile fleet is once more a force to be reckoned with on the ocean.

Before the war the German ship-builders were challenging British shippers in an amazing manner. They were building cargo-carriers that were cutting in on the long-distance hauls, and they were building palatial liners to rival the best that Britain could furnish for the trans-Atlantic trade.

The war ended all of that, of course. Now, however, Germany proves that she has come back. The Bremen is a worthy rival of any ship afloat. The established British lines, as well as the youthful but thriving American lines, may as well recognize that they have a most worthy competitor.

MERCIFUL ELECTRICITY

This year marks the golden jubilee of the first electric lamp perfected by Thomas A. Edison. It is interesting to note that 40 years ago Edison appeared before a committee investigating the possibility of electrocuting criminals. In his testimony Edison stated that alternating current would kill a man instantaneously and painlessly.

By a law of June 4, 1888, New York state already had provided for the execution of criminals by electricity; but the word of the "wizard of Menlo Park" was needed to assure the public mind that this method of capital punishment was merciful. Since that time electrocution has been adopted by 21 states. This is against 19 states in which the punishment for murder is hanging, and eight, including Michigan, which provide life imprisonment. Lethal gas is used only in Nevada; and in Utah shooting is an alternative to hanging as the supreme penalty.

The working knowledge of electricity which Edison gave to the world has been of incalculable aid to the progress of civilization; and at the same time it has furnished probably the most humane method of sending out of the world those offenders against society who must obey the law of a life for a life.

Contemporary sun-worshippers are more concerned about their skins than about their souls.

Who said "Louder and Funnier?"

MEMORIES

Out of the past, on Broadway, there appeared this week Frank Daniels, still wearing his rakish hat and college clothes. He made his big hit in "The Wizard of the Nile" 28 years ago. He was also principal comedian in "Princess Bonnie," which introduced Eleanor Mayo to the public. It was Miss Mayo's only play. Colonel James Elverson, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, married her and took her from the stage. They both died within a few months of each other last winter.

MAKING GOOD IN BIG TOWN

New York's a great town if you come here with any particular talent, and, as old man Chapin, a well-known city editor of other days, used to say, "the guts to stand the gaff."

There's Erno Bakes, Hungarian artist, who dumped into the Battery by way of Ellis Island and went the route, through Bryant Park and all the rest of it, before he caught the Eye of the Speaker.

It was 13 years ago that he landed here. In the last two years he painted portraits of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, General Summerville, Henry L. Hearst, Mary Pickford, Henry L. Stimson and David W. Griffith.

SUCH IS LIFE

All Broadway knows that the late Eddie Foy had a Hamlet complex. He cherished the ambition to be able to lay aside the motley of the clown and don the sombre trappings of Shakespeare's greatest tragic character. The nearest he ever came to the Great Objective was back in 1908, when he appeared in a musical comedy called "Mr. Hamlet of Broadway."

And now, several years after his death, it has fallen to the lot of his son, Bryan Foy, to direct Europe's greatest actor, Alexander Moissi, in scenes from Hamlet, for a talking picture in German, called "The Royal Box"—a play of gentle memories, made famous by Charles and Rose Coghlan.

LOOKS BETTER THE MAN

General Rafael Nogales is a little, sunburnt, weather-beaten chap, with the heart of a wildcat and the manners of a field mouse. He was a general in the Turkish army during the World War, has been a soldier of fortune for 20 years, fought under seven flags and loves to sit in the Newspaper Club and listen to the pleasing and varied tales that ebb and flow in those halflawed precincts, twenty-four hours a day.

The other night the general and a bunch of scribes attended the midnight performance of a Broadway show. Nearby sat a 200-pound six-foot length of noise who annoyed everyone within earshot with noisy whistcracks.

Nogales looked sharply at the disturber several times. Finally their eyes met and the gentleman who was giving an imitation of a noisy passenger in the owl car told the general if he didn't like his conduct he was at liberty to get up and go out.

For a minute it looked as if something interesting might happen. Instead, the general grinned, shrugged, arose quietly and withdrew to another part of the house.

"See that," cried the disturber as soon as Nogales was out of earshot. "I'm the harpin' who can handle birds like that!"

If the Hairpin had known he was up against the man who had to control a brigade of howling fanatical Turks in the heat of battle and upon whose head Enver Pasha afterward set a price, he might have changed his tone.

LIFE SPAN

Professor Irving Fisher, Yale teacher, predicts the average life span will be 100 by the year 2000; How unimportant even that will be if we can't do a great deal better in those days than we do now with our more limited years. Why long life—unless there's a reason?

THE DROP OF WATER

President Garfield used to say that the individual is like a drop of water which today rests at the bottom of the sea and tomorrow will ride the crest of the wave. But there's a difference. The drop of water is the sport of chance. It is a tiny part of a movement over which it can have no measurable control. Man, too, to some degree, is the sport of circumstance, but only partly so. The more thoughtfully and earnestly he tries, the more he can have to say about his rise from the bottom of the sea to the top of the wave.

LOOKING AND LIVING

Sir Philip Gibbs, wise observer of life, says: "I find that most people in the world will come more than half way to meet one in civility and friendship and good will. That's rather encouraging. I have discovered that one's moments of ecstatic joy are when one gets a good swipe over a net with a tennis racket, or when one walks through a wood so quiet that one can hear a rabbit stir in the undergrowth, or when one reads something in a book and says, 'By gum, that's true!' Or when just for a moment or two in life, one forgets oneself in some splendid passion which has no selfishness."

WATCHING

Speaking of Gibbs and his keen perceptions of life, there is an increasing number of men and women who are observing the movements of mankind and wondering what it's all going to come to. Probably the most intelligent people today hate autocracy and at the same time disbelieve in present day democracy. We see that most of our officials are concerned with having an easy job and keeping themselves at the pay window. We find our best men unwilling to make the sacrifice necessary to have an active part in the government. Thousands of the most intelligent people in the land sit on the sides-lines and wonder how it's all coming out.

Perfume, as it happens, is always best when used directly upon the skin. Then it has a distinctive and personal scent about it.

The essential oil in any perfume combines chemically with the skin's own natural oils, so that fragrances often differ when used by different people. A drop of perfume behind the ear, a whiff of scent across the palms of the hands, or buried in the hollow of the throat, a mere touch on the eyebrows, a drop between the breasts, creates a magic mist or cloak of charm that moves automatically with her whenever she moves or walks.

Perfume can be sprayed upon furs, when it has much the same warmth and fragrance as when it is applied to the living skin. Or it may be sprayed under the hem of a dress, and lightly through one's undergarments. An atomizer is especially helpful in applying perfume delicately, for by this means it can be used lightly and sparingly. The alcohol that preserves the scent evaporates all the more quickly, leaving behind it only the fine delightful fragrance of the perfume itself.

Some women like to have all their toilet accessories in a matching fragrance—bath soap, bath salts, talcum, toilet water and perfume, as well as sachet. Others like a blend of odors, finding nothing inharmonious in several scents, provided all are delicate and somewhat similar. A safe and very convenient way to solve this problem is to have soap, bath salts and talcum in an unobtrusive, neutral, clean-smelling scent, such as lavender or sandalwood, when perfume which may be used to complete a personal ensemble will stand out distinctively, its own fragrance unaffected by any other scent. This is especially true for those who like to change their perfumes frequently to suit a special costume or occasion.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

There is a very particular technique of applying perfume. Some women, naturally artistic and fastidious, make a fine art of the manner in which they use their favorite fragrance. The old-fashioned and commonplace way was to touch a tiny drop from the perfume bottle stopper to the bottom of one's dress, and perhaps an additional drop to the pocket handkerchief. Other ways are more subtle and clever in their application of perfume. Some women apply the perfume directly upon the living skin. Or it may be sprayed under the hem of a dress, and lightly through one's undergarments. An atomizer is especially helpful in applying perfume delicately, for by this means it can be used lightly and sparingly.

without reading the fine print. Rather curiously, the ex-allies are most insistent that the United States federal reserve board be represented on the international bank's board of directors.

They want one of the big international bankers, anyhow—to make it as official as possible.

Washington emphatically says "No."

Theoretically, it appears that the United States government lacks the power to make its veto stick—but, practically, financiers generally agree that it can. It can prevent any appearance of official approval of the plans at all events.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Vegetable Salad—One box lemon gelatin, one-half cup shredded cabbage, one-half cup finely cut celery, one-half cup diced carrots. Dissolve gelatin in one pint hot water. When cool add vegetables and chili. Serve on lettuce leaf with chili dressing. This is sufficient for two days. Prepare the night before using.

Chocolate Sponge—One and one-half squares unsweetened chocolate cut in fine pieces, one and one-quarter cups milk scalded, four tablespoons sugar, four egg yolks slightly beaten, one package strawberry gelatin, dash salt and cinnamon, one-half teaspoon vanilla, four egg whites beaten stiff. Place chocolate and milk in double boiler, add sugar and egg yolks. When slightly thick add gelatin, salt and cinnamon. When dissolved remove and chill. When cool add vanilla and egg whites. Put into molds or serving dishes and set in cold place until ready to serve. This recipe is enough for two meals. Prepare night before using.

Anyways Washington officialdom is dead set against any American representation in the international bank—because that will be interpreted as recognition of the reparations conference's plan, whatever in the long run, it may prove to be.

If, say at the end of 37 years, during which Germany is bound to pay approximately $437,900,000 annually into the international bank—

The ex-allies were to say, "This ends the whole thing—reparations payments, debt payments and all—if you Yankees have anything further to collect, go ahead and collect it from Germany; because we're through."

This is all right, so far as appears on the surface.

It would be pleasant for Uncle Sam to be in a position to reply, "Yes, but I never sanctioned the plan."

But not so pleasant if an American director had had a hand in every one of the international bank's transactions, from the minute it opened its doors, and Uncle Sam thereby was committed to

It resulted in a scheme to establish an "international bank" to accept Germany's money, and divide it among the ex-allies—and, incidentally, to keep up a series of payments on what the ex-allies owe to the United States.

This is all right, so far as appears on the surface.

It is none of the United States' business whether the ex-allies choose to have Germany pay money into their various accounts in an international bank. There can be no objection to acceptance of checks against these accounts, in settlement of debts owed by the ex-allies in their country.

to cover or not to cover becomes a momentous bed time question at this season of the year. A blanket over the top sheet seems unnecessary but no sooner do we decide to dispense with it than some vagrant breeze is sure to cause us a night of discomfort.

Many housewives are finding the extra sheet a satisfactory compromise. Two sheets with a layer of air between may furnish just the right amount of warmth when a blanket would prove uncomfortable. Fresh, clean sheets are delightfully cool and refreshing to lie between, but an extra one on top will provide an additional degree of comfort. Because sheets can be washed so easily, they make for cleanliness as well as for comfort.

The alcohol that preserves the scent evaporates all the more quickly, leaving behind it only the fine delightful fragrance of the perfume itself.

Some women like to have all their toilet accessories in a matching fragrance—bath soap, bath salts, talcum, toilet water and perfume, as well as sachet. Others like a blend of odors, finding nothing inharmonious in several scents, provided all are delicate and somewhat similar. A safe and very convenient way to solve this problem is to have soap, bath salts and talcum in an unobtrusive, neutral, clean-smelling such as lavender or sandalwood. When any perfume which may be used to complete a person's ensemble will stand out distinctively, its own fragrance unaffected by any other scent. This is especially true for those who like to change their perfumes frequently to suit a special costume or occasion.

W. C. T. U. AND L. T. L. S. HOLD JOINT MEETING.

Members of the New Burlington College, Mr. Graham will assist in chemistry instruction and manage a boarding club at Cedarville next Winter.

The meeting opened with the congregation singing "Love Lifted Me". Mrs. James McIntire, president of the W. C. T. U. read the scripture lesson. The meeting at this time was turned over to members of the L. T. L. S. and they opened their program with a song and scripture reading.

Salutation of the flag and a few yell's followed. Piano solos and duets were given by Misses Leona Miller, Ruth Reeves, Mildred Carr and Dorothy Bogan. Vocal duets were given by the Smith sisters and the Stanley sisters.

Mrs. Raymond Carr, superintendent of the L. T. L. S. asked several questions and answers were given by members of the organizations. The meeting was closed by the reading of the W. C. T. U. benediction.

The hostess committees of each organization assisted in serving dainty refreshments of ice cream and lemonade.

SEVENTY-THREE ATTEND FIRST REUNION SUNDAY

Mr. Ralph Perkins was elected president of the organization at the first Bowermaster-Perkins reunion at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Bangham, Wilmington, Sunday.

Other officers elected were: secretary, Mrs. Oprah Brill; and treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Bangham. There were seventy-three guests present. A committee of three composed of Miss Cleo Bean, Mr. Albert Bowermaster and Miss Rebecca Bowermaster was selected to obtain data regarding the Peter Bowermaster history, to be given at the next reunion.

Mr. Charles Benlehr, a missionary from India, gave a short talk concerning his work in India, preceding the business meeting.

The last Sunday in July of each year was selected as the date for the reunion.

FOURTY-SIX WOMEN ENJOY LUNCHEON

Forty-six women gathered at the Xenia Country Club and enjoyed the delightful weekly luncheon at the club house, Monday.

Immediately following the luncheon, bridge was in play throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Charles L. John, Mrs. D. W. Cherry and Miss Helen Sayre entertained private groups.

The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Mrs. Steele Poussin, chairman; Mrs. John Davidson, Mrs. Charles Adair, Mrs. Lawrence Landaker, Mrs. C. H. Little, Mrs. V. L. Faires and Miss Florence Steele.

FIVE GENERATIONS AT REUNION SUNDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Fawcett, Fayette St., delightfully entertained a group of relatives at a lovely picnic dinner served on the lawn of their home Sunday. The affair was in the form of a reunion, there being five generations present. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Van Tress and son Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Van Tress and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Van Tress and children, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cleaver and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleaver of Piqua, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kibler and daughter Thelma, Sarah and Geneva of Harveysburg and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Long and small son Roger, Xenia.

Dancing in the attractive pavilion beginning at 8:30 o'clock with the "Motley Crew," an orchestra composed of a band of colleagues from Ohio and other states, furnishing the music, will formally open Kill Kare Park, on the Dayton-Xenia Pike, Tuesday evening.

Table service on the veranda will be one of the innovations and the management announces that advance reservations indicate a large crowd will be on hand for the official opening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Linson, Mrs. Edwin Wing, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Swartz, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Streicher, Clifton, motored to Mechanicsburg, Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wing.

FOR COLDS-- ALKALINIZE YOUR SYSTEM

Doctors everywhere are prescribing this new treatment for colds; and it is delighting thousands by the quick relief it brings when used consistently.

Begin when you feel a cold coming. Take a tablespoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water, morning, noon and night, the first day. Do the same thing the second day. Then take only at night.

Colds reduce the alkalinity of your system. That's what makes you feel achy, feverish, weak, lousy from them. Phillips Milk of Magnesia is alkali in a harmless, palatable form. It relieves the symptoms of colds by restoring the alkalinity of your system.

For fifty years, this pleasant alkaline has been famous as an antacid. Doctors prescribe Phillips Milk of Magnesia; hospitals use it; millions know how it relieves sour-stomach, gas, indigestion and other symptoms of over-acidity. All drug stores recommend it, 25c and 50c bottles, with full directions for its many uses.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

SIAMESE TWINS DIE
MARIETTA, O., July 30.—
Siamese twins, both boys, were born here to Mr. and Mrs. Jessie C. Davis. The children died an hour after birth. Their combined weight was nine and one-fourth pounds. The bodies were joined at the breast. The parents are aged thirty-one years and have two children.

ROBBERY SERIES ADMITTED BY BOY

Confession that he has been responsible for a series of nearly fifteen petty robberies and attempts at house-breaking in various parts of the city within the last three weeks has been obtained, police say, from John Winsley, 16, colored.

The youth was captured by Patrolmen Charles Thompson and J. E. Craig Monday night after a report was received that an intruder had forced his way into a house at 15 E. Second St. While police were investigating the intruder several reports were received at Police Headquarters that attempts had been made to break into other houses in the vicinity earlier in the evening.

Police Chief M. E. Graham is engaged in checking a list of places the boy is said to have admitted entering. In most instances the loot obtained was negligible, consisting of trinkets.

The case will probably be disposed of in Juvenile Court as the youth is a minor.

"The burden of drunkenness merely has been shifted from one set of shoulders to another set of shoulders. While some of the seasoned inheritors of the older generation found their supplies of intoxicants cut down or cut off, a large and growing proportion of amateur alcoholics developed among the younger generation."

Converted into an attractive tavern, the picturesque former residence of P. H. Flynn, retired Xenia manufacturer, located on the Dayton-Xenia Pike, just north of Trebilson, will be opened about August 1 to the public under the name of the "Treble Tavern."

The residence has been remodeled and decorated on an elaborate scale and with the grounds has been rented by Mrs. Edith K. Nelson, Dayton, who plans to popularize the tavern as a place for dinner, luncheon-bridge parties and the like.

Private parties may be arranged by appointment but for the present, at least, dinners, and lunches will be served with or without advance reservations.

In opening the property as a road tavern, the residence is being put to the use for which it was originally intended more than 100 years ago. In 1830, it is recalled

As usual Ford is expected to spend part of the day at his Dearborn offices instead of cutting down his daily work hours. Ford has been increasing them recently, his vacations in the last few months being a motor trip to Virginia and visits to his friend Thomas Edison.

SCENES FROM CENTER OF TEXTILE WORKERS' STRIKE

RACE PILOT TESTS NEW SPEEDSTER

The trim appearing residence at right above is the Gaston county jail where 15 strikers and labor organizers are awaiting trial for the murder of Chief of Police O. D. Aderholt at Gastonia, N. C., during a raid on the strikers' headquarters in June. The front of the jail is used as a home by Tom Hanna, jailer, shown on the porch. The 15 strikers are crowded into a space 16 by 20 feet, located in the rear of the building. Upper left is a closeup of one of the tents in the strikers' colony in Gastonia.

HOOVER WANTS MILLIONAIRES FOR DIPLOMATIC POSTS

President Hoover is making his diplomatic appointments slowly and cautiously with a view to choosing several millionaires who will center their diplomatic efforts on adjusting the financial supremacy of the United States to the Hoover ideal of international goodwill. Senator Walter Edge (1) of New Jersey is authentically reported as the next ambassador to France; Ambassador Morrow (2) will be retained in Mexico without question; John N. Willys (3), Toledo automobile manufacturer, is almost certain to receive an important post; Eugene Meyer (4), former chairman of the War Finance corporation, is being considered for Germany; (5) Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and intimate friend of Hoover, is being groomed for an ambassadorship; and Thomas W. Lamont (6) of the House of Morgan, has been urged for Rome or Madrid.

PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR ANNUAL CLUB TOURNAMENT

Details of the annual President's Tournament at the Xenia Country Club are being announced.

This yearly golfing tourney is sponsored by the president of the club, who in previous years has offered a cup to the winner.

The 1929 tourney, however, will be run on a slightly different scale by W. Crawford Craig, club president, who reveals the event will be open to both men and women members.

Prizes, the nature of which is being kept secret for the present, will be awarded winners in the men's and women's divisions.

There will be no qualifying rounds and no entry fee will be charged.

The tourney will be staged on a handicap basis.

Golfers will compete in match play and the winners will be determined by the process of elimination. Each round will be eighteen holes and members are being urged to fill out their handicap cards immediately in order that handicaps of various players may be allotted.

Drawings and pairings for the first round will be made Wednesday and actual play will start Thursday. No time limit has been fixed for completion of the tourney but it is hoped to finish it within three weeks.

MAILMEN CHECK ROPEMAKERS BY DEFEATING LEAGUE LEADERS

The Post Office softball team sliced a full game from the lead of the Hooven and Allison Co. in the American League by defeating the league-leaders 5 to 4 in a well-played game Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

It is expected the dog racing situation will mark time for at least a week. Authorities have been successful in closing the track until August 6 since the promoters, having already sunk thousands of dollars into the venture, do not care to operate the track at a loss as long as wagering is not permitted.

Racing was held two nights without betting and although several thousand people visited the track both nights, few paid their way in. A vast majority went in on passes and the races were a losing proposition.

It is considered unlikely that any attempt will be made to re-open the track by means of an injunction suit, designed to prevent authorities from interfering with the operation of the "contribution" system of wagering.

Injunction actions have met with no success in other parts of the state because courts have held that authorities cannot be restrained from enforcing the law. In a similar case at Cleveland a judge granted a temporary injunction enjoining the sheriff from molesting a racing track but stipulated that the order was not binding upon him if in his opinion the "contribution" system of betting violated the law. The sheriff ignored the injunction.

Now it is announced that the West Jefferson dog track, which has not been in operation since June 22 when track officials closed it voluntarily after a month's run, contemplates re-opening next Saturday night.

It is thought that the decision to again open the track was made after several other race tracks in Ohio were allowed to operate without reference.

It will be remembered that this track is the one Governor Cooper and Prosecutor Dean Richmond tried unsuccessfully to close. Arrests of employees were made but no convictions could be obtained when track officials were brought to a jury trial.

Whether in the event the track re-opens, the prosecutor will resume his efforts to suppress betting, is problematical. The prosecutor has refused to disclose his plans for the present.

BOWERSVILLE TEAM BEATS WILMINGTON INDEPENDENTS 8-0

Mercer And Lucas Blank Visitors In Easy Manner

The Bowersville Bayliffs blanked the Wilmington Independents 8 to 0 Sunday afternoon on the Bowersville diamond and now boast a record of seven victories against only one defeat this season.

Playing a spectacular defensive game at times, the Bayliffs permitted only twenty-nine visiting players to come to bat, two more than the least possible number.

Mercer was the starting pitcher for the Bayliffs. He worked four innings without allowing a hit and then retired in favor of Lucas, who held the enemy to two hits, one in the seventh and one in the ninth, but nary a run. No Wilmington runner progressed beyond second base.

The Bayliffs got their daily dozen of hits so to speak, the same as on the previous Sunday, but scored one less run than a week ago.

D. Murrell always carries his extra base hit with him and this time it was a double, scoring his brother, Nute, from second. This happened in the third when Bowersville scored four runs on three hits and a walk. Taylor was on second and took a notion to steal third while the pitcher held the ball. When the pitcher pegged wildly, Taylor continued on home. The Bayliffs grabbed a run in the first, also one in the fourth and two in the sixth, then called it a day.

Cline and Ottis Smith, Wilmington pitchers, were treated alike. Each was nicked for six hits, Smith pitched out of a nice hole in the fifth when with one down and the bases loaded he fanned Lucas and Conklin, retiring the side.

Next Sunday the Bayliffs will visit Chillicothe for a game with the Mead Pulp and Paper Co. nine, but will be back at home August 11. Score:

PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR ANNUAL CLUB TOURNAMENT

Details of the annual President's charged. Tournament at the Xenia Country Club are being announced.

This yearly golfing tourney is sponsored by the president of the club, who in previous years has offered a cup to the winner.

The 1929 tourney, however, will be run on a slightly different scale by W. Crawford Craig, club president, who reveals the event will be open to both men and women members.

Prizes, the nature of which is being kept secret for the present, will be awarded winners in the men's and women's divisions.

There will be no qualifying rounds and no entry fee will be within three weeks.

Drawings and pairings for the first round will be made Wednesday and actual play will start Thursday. No time limit has been fixed for completion of the tourney but it is hoped to finish it within three weeks.

MAILMEN CHECK ROPEMAKERS BY DEFEATING LEAGUE LEADERS

The Post Office softball team sliced a full game from the lead of the Hooven and Allison Co. in the American League by defeating the league leaders 5 to 4 in a well-played game Monday night at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

The H. and A. nine's lead was thereby reduced to one full game over the mailmen, who have had the Indian sign on the leaders all season. The two teams have met four times so far this season and the postal team has been victorious on three occasions.

Leadership of the National League will be at stake Tuesday night when the Downtown Country Club, present leader, meets Harpers Cigars. Score:

scored in the last of the eighth.

The H. and A. attempted a belated rally in the ninth but the effort while producing one run, fell short by just that margin of evening the score.

Downey released eleven hits of which three were made by Kearnes, catcher, Williams, H. and A. twirler, was placed in several holes because of indifferent support and was touched for twelve hits, which were, for the most part, kept scattered. Woolary had a perfect day at the plate for the winners, singled four times.

JAMESTOWN SCORES 7 TO 4 VICTORY OVER WILMINGTON NINE

Independents Hit Hard Behind Evans' Pitching

The Jamestown Independents pounded out a 7 to 4 victory over Wilmington, in a hotly contested game, on the Jamestown diamond, Sunday afternoon.

Evens, the Jamestown pitcher, struck out four hits and striking out six, while his team mates gave him almost perfect support.

Beatty, pitching for Wilmington, struck out four hits and allowed eleven hits, which were bunched for three runs in the second, one in the fourth, two in the sixth and one in the eighth.

The losers scored, once in each of the sixth and seventh innings and came back strong to chase in two runs in their half of the ninth. H. Surface was safe when Bales muffed his grounder and Evans hit Schraw and both runners scored on infield outs.

DESTRUCTION WROUGHT BY QUAKE

READ THIS FIRST:

Vivian Matthews marries Kent worth Hillman Johns III to help him get his grandfather's fortune after he has been jilted by his childhood sweetheart. She believes herself a doorstep baby, and is shy and unhappy—a "flat tire." He is to pay her one hundred thousand dollars, and give her a Paris divorce at the end of a year, but a cyclone wipes his business and home off the earth, and Wall Street takes his fortune. He is forced to live with Vivian in her little cottage while they serve out their contract. She learns from a mysterious visitor, who turns out to be her mother's father, that Kent is an orphanage baby, and that she is the rightful heir of the Johns fortune and worth a half million dollars. Her father was old Johns' son, and when he was killed in an automobile accident, with Vivian's mother, a dancer, Kent was established in the home, and Vivian had a happy little triumph feeling. She had made him squirm and ask questions. Certainly she had the advantage now, to help Kent.

She dropped her eyes. She was sorry she had told him, "Yes—you were the first."

"But not the last—not the only man who has ever kissed you?"

"No, thank God," she pushed him away. "And I don't suppose you'll be the last."

When she saw the expression on his face she was glad. Then she was sorry. A minute later he looked up from his pancakes questioningly.

"The other man—is Barkow, of course."

"Naturally," she told him, unbuttoned outwardly, but watching closely to see how he felt about it.

"He is the only man who has ever honored me with his attentions to any great extent. I might have tried the iceman, but Celeste seems to like him, and I wouldn't want to go back in her love patch."

They both laughed. But Kent was not so joyful. He ate his breakfast after that in silence, and went to work with a curt nod. For once Vivian had a happy little triumph feeling. She had made him squirm and ask questions. Certainly she had the advantage now, to help Kent.

She buys an automobile business and makes Kent sole manager—secretly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVII

"I can't give you anything but love baby."

That's the only thing I've plenty of ba-bee."

Kent was splashing in the shower, and Vivian, downstairs getting breakfast, smiled to herself at his noisy morning ablations. How happy he seemed. And all because he had a good chance to make a little money in the new business that she had made possible for him.

"I don't believe he thinks very much about the loss of all his money and everything," she told herself, happily, and mixed his favorite pancakes that had become her favorites, too.

He came down the stairs two steps at a time, still singing lustily:

"But—I can't give you anything but love."

"Ain't it the truth, darling," he strode into the kitchen. "I can't give you anything but love, and even spurn me when I try to do right by you and love you a

The Theater

After completing "The Taming of the Shrew," first joint picture made by Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, the famous stars again plan to return to individual starring vehicles.

Miss Pickford's next picture will be an all-talking version of a famous stage play, the script for which is being prepared and Fairbanks will dramatize a well known novel, the rights of which he has purchased.

First though, they will sail to Europe from New York after the Shakespearean piece has been finished.

Several weeks ago this column reported a general feeling among the western stars that the "horse opera" is coming back to popularity. This report is now confirmed by the announcement that Hoot Gibson, one of the better known Xenia audiences were startled during the run-off of the William Haines picture, "A Man's Man" at the Bijou Sunday and Monday. The girl attempting to break in the movies was found to have the words "Cedarville, Ohio" on her suitcase. Cedarville being one of Xenia's gap towns, the bit of business went over here for a laugh.

Shirley O'Hara, who wearied of Hollywood and went to New York to try her luck on the stage, has made good in the big city. She has a part in the stage production of Joseph Herzog's story, "Timlico," which is no mean feat.

BARN MONDAY NIGHT

Fire of mysterious origin entirely destroyed a large barn including its contents on a farm owned by Jacob Huber, Dayton, located on the Ludlow Road in Beavercreek Twp., six and one-half miles from Xenia Monday night. Loss is estimated at $4,000 and is believed partly covered by insurance.

The building burned to the ground and the contents, consisting of farm machinery valued at $1,000 were also destroyed. There was no livestock or grain in the barn.

The farm is tenanted by the John Young family. Young discovered the blaze at 8:30 o'clock but the flames had gained great headway and were soon out of control.

No great effort could be made to subdue the blaze because of the lack of fire-fighting facilities.

The farm residence, although situated near the blazing barn, was not particularly endangered by the flames because of the absence of wind.

The farm was formerly owned by Albert Nash.

The Motoring Performance

CITIES SERVICE GASOLENE

The minute you step on it you feel the increased pep . . . the tremendous surge of power awaiting your command . . . motoring confidence you never dreamed of before . . . smoothness . . . flexibility . . . 100% dependability.

Cities Service Gasoline reaches you only after it has passed the most exacting tests known to science—12 in number—every one rigidly applied. As a further check on quality, Cities Service Gasoline is then put to actual service tests under every conceivable driving condition, in all kinds of weather, twenty-four hours every day, by thousands of motor vehicles in the service of the Public Utilities Division of this $900,000,000 organization!

Therefore, when you use Cities Service Gasoline you may be sure you are using a product that is tried and proved absolutely safe.

We urge you to ask for Koolmotor Oil—the perfect Pennsylvania motor oil. You will find this superior lubricant a real means of keeping your motor cool, smooth-running and trouble-free.

There is a convenient LORECO station nearby where you can obtain these two high quality products.

CITIES SERVICE COMPANY is one of the country's ten largest industrial organizations, serving millions of people in 33 states with electricity, transportation, ice, water, natural and manufactured gas and petroleum products.

Cities Service is no newcomer in the petroleum business. One of its properties is one of the oldest—if not the oldest—in the oil industry. In 1862, shortly after the first oil well was drilled—the famous Drake Well in Titusville—this Cities Service subsidiary began refining and perfecting petroleum products.

To improve the quality of its products and services, Cities Service spends $1,000,000 each year for research and experiment. A substantial amount of this is applied to Cities Service oils and gasoline—the lubricants used by the Public Utilities Division of Cities Service in its fleet of over 4,000 motor vehicles of every type. These vehicles operate every day in the year covering thousands of miles and could not render perfect service without the high quality of these products which are available to motorists in 33 states.

CITIES SERVICE GASOLENE

The minute you step on it you feel the increased pep . . . the tremendous surge of power awaiting your command . . . motoring confidence you never dreamed of before . . . smoothness . . . flexibility . . . 100% dependability.

Cities Service Gasoline reaches you only after it has passed the most exacting tests known to science—12 in number—every one rigidly applied. As a further check on quality, Cities Service Gasoline is then put to actual service tests under every conceivable driving condition, in all kinds of weather, twenty-four hours every day, by thousands of motor vehicles in the service of the Public Utilities Division of this $900,000,000 organization!

Therefore, when you use Cities Service Gasoline you may be sure you are using a product that is tried and proved absolutely safe.

We urge you to ask for Koolmotor Oil—the perfect Pennsylvania motor oil. You will find this superior lubricant a real means of keeping your motor cool, smooth-running and trouble-free.

There is a convenient LORECO station nearby where you can obtain these two high quality products.
